ANA Coin Press – "Circulating and Non-Circulating Legal Tender"

When it comes to legal tender, there are two related paradoxes in numismatics.

The first is that collecting a coin or banknote becomes possible only when it is removed from circulation, even though its legal tender status is a big part of what makes it collectible in the first place.

The second paradox is the inverse of the first: sometimes, collectible numismatic items are legal tender, but are not actually intended for circulation.

Own a Treasure from the Money Museum

Join us for the launch of the monthly Money Museum Deaccession Auction on eBay, June 10-17. Collectors will have a week to review and bid on items – all of which are duplicate, mostly low-value specimens already represented in the Money Museum collection. American Numismatic Association members receive a 20% discount on their winning bids! All proceeds will support the educational mission of the museum.

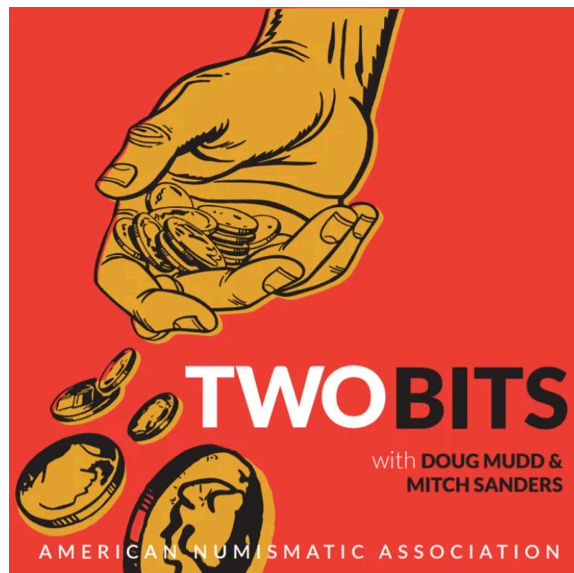

Several dozen auction lots will typically be available at each auction, which will focus on world coins, paper money, tokens and medals, random American coins, mint sets and numerous stock certificates. The auction will eventually expand to include duplicate books and catalogs from the ANA Library and ANA-branded objects from the Money Museum store.

Check the Money Museum eBay store every third Thursday of the month for new lots. YN Dollars are NOT allowed to be used to purchase these deaccessioned items – YN Dollars can only be used to "purchase" items in the official ANA YN Auctions held each month.
