The 8th Annual Live Auction is Sept. 10

One of the best benefits of being an ANA YN is the opportunity to participate in the annual live online YN Auction in September. It's a wonderful learning experience that allows you to feel the excitement and yes, the pressure that you'd experience bidding on items with real money (only YN Dollars are accepted in the YN Auction). Plus, you'll have the opportunity to win some real treasures! The lots consist of U.S. and world coins and currency, numismatic literature and supplies, as well as other "oddball" related items.

One hundred lots will be offered, plus ten "grab bags" at the end of the auction to provide those that did not win anything a way to obtain something fun. Bidding generally starts low but doesn't stay there for long. Many lots go for $50-$100, but some fetch hundreds if not thousands of dollars. Lot #51, for instance, is traditionally a gold coin that can "sell" for $3,000 to $4,000. It's incumbent on all participants to do their due diligence in researching the lots they are interested in to prepare for the auction.

Keep your eye on the YN website for the 2022 Auction Catalog, which will be posted soon. And keep earning those YN Dollars so you'll have more funds to bid on your favorite lots! Additional details are below.

ANA Coin Press – "Collecting Friends: My First Commemorative Coins"

The United States Mint got back into the business of commemorative coins in 1982, after taking a break for nearly 30 years. The first "commems" had been minted in 1892, for the World's Columbian Exposition. Then followed several decades of special coins authorized by Congress to honor American leaders, celebrate state centennials, remember Civil War battles, and commemorate other important people, places, and events.

All in the Family

Collecting ancestral stories can lead to collecting coins, notes, and more

The YN Perspective from the July 2022 Numismatist by Garrett Ziss

Hello! I'm Garrett Ziss, and I'm filling in for Livia Paoletti as a guest columnist this month. My most recent numismatic collection was conceived during the pandemic and was purely unintentional. A conversation with my maternal grandmother followed by the unfortunate passing of my paternal grandmother encouraged me to organize the ancestral documents and photographs from both side of my family. It wasn't long before the line between this family history project and my numismatic pursuits started to blur.

Genealogy, the study of one's ancestry, has increased in popularity over the past few years. I've recently discovered that a thoughtful collection of numismatic items can enhance the genealogy charts, documents, photos, and stories associated with a family's past by helping to place one's ancestors into historical context.
