Collecting Friends: Boston Tea Party

In a new blog installment from Dennis Tucker and Steve Roach, the pair discuss historical events appearing on coins

Steve: Commemorative coins and rethinking historical events.

The U.S. Mint is potentially revisiting some of its classic designs for America's semiquincentennial (250th anniversary) in 2026, polling the public on events it would like to see honored and designs that it would like to see again on coins.

Last year saw the 250th anniversary of the Boston Tea Party. The Dec. 16, 1773, event saw citizens protesting what they perceived to be unfair trade practices imposed by the British that allowed the British East India Company to sell tea from China in American Colonies.

The Grandfather of Modern Dansco Albums

Article powered by Spectres, from the Reading Room

The next time you chat with a coin collector, ask them how they approach storing and preserving their collection. You're bound to hear a plethora of responses: folders, coin flips, slabs, tubes, cabinets, safety deposit boxes, time capsules, mattresses, and more. (Sometimes, the occasional collector will "store" them in a nearby lake and claim they lost their collection in a "boating accident" when the tax man comes around.) If it can hold a coin, a collector has used it for storage.

September 12

"Colonial Currency; German East Africa"

Presented by Doug Mudd

German East Africa is fascinating because of its location in one of the last regions of the African continent to be explored – the old phrase "Heart of Africa" referred to central Africa and east Africa equally for many decades – and its exploration was the stuff of legends. The search for the source of the Nile, Henry Morton Stanley, David Livingstone, Richard Burton, John Speke, Samuel Baker – all played a part in developing Doug's interest in the region. When he discovered the numismatic background of what was to become Tanzania, his interest piqued yet again. Join Doug on a numismatic exploration of a fascinating region of the world!

September 26

"The American Arts Medallion Series (1980-1984) 'Success or Failure'"

Presented by Mark Wieclaw

In this presentation, we will discuss how and why the series came about, along with the ten artists featured on the medallions. Also, the purchasing process and the future aftermath. Those in attendance will then be able to decide whether the series was a success or failure.

ANA members receive a 20% discount on their winnings bids! All proceeds will be used to support the Museum's educational mission.

Money Museum auctions take place every third Thursday of the month. YN Dollars are NOT allowed to be used to purchase these deaccessioned items – YN Dollars can only be used to "purchase" items in the official ANA YN Auctions held each month.
